1. BACKGROUND AND INTRODUCTION

The WRC operates as legislated by the Water Research Act (Act 34 of 1971) and is an entity of national importance to ensure water security, support to the DWS and water sector stakeholders through funding of research entities (universities, consultants and SMMEs). The Primary Function of the WRC is to (1) Promote coordination, cooperation, and communication in water research; (2) Establish water research needs and priorities; (3) Stimulate and fund water research according to priority; (4) Promote the effective transfer of information and technology; and (5) Enhance knowledge and capacity building within the water sector.

The WRC has a Human Resource Policy which makes provision for the granting of a temporary incapacity leave also known as additional sick leave to an employee who has exhausted his/her normal sick leave within a leave cycle. The current practice is that an employee who has exhausted his/her normal sick leave will apply for temporary incapacity leave which will then be considered by the Executives who will then make a recommendation for the Chief Executive Officer to decide on whether to approve or decline/disapprove the leave application.

This current practice is risky for the institution as all those who are currently involved in the approval process are not medically qualified to make a determination about the health condition of an employee hence, they mainly base their decision on face-value assessment which is not backed up by any medical procedures and evidence. This is then open to discretion, bias and inconsistency which can lead to unfair treatment of employees and subsequently litigations against the WRC. Therefore, in line with best practices and in order to protect the WRC and the employees, there is a need to appoint an independent, accredited and medically qualified Health Risk Manager who will be an independent natural or juristic person or a legal entity to be appointed by the WRC to advise on mainly the granting of incapacity leave and ill-health retirement of employees.

The Health Risk Manager will have the services of multi-disciplinary medical experts, specializing in occupational medicine. This will include inter alia, medical practitioners specialising in occupational health such as occupational nurses, occupational therapists, general medical doctors and specialist medical doctors who will conduct secondary medical assessments of employees and advise the WRC on the granting of temporary incapacity leave, alternative accommodation of employees based on medical conditions or grounds, injury on duty cases and occupational diseases cases in the workplace and the granting of ill-health retirement (medical boarding).
