Terms of Reference Verified Threat Intelligence Feeds on First-Tier Border Threats

Statement of requirement for initiation of procurement

Version 1.1, 28 October 2026

Secure Borders for Development
www.bma.gov.za

1. Purpose

This requirement states what the Border Management Authority's National Border Targeting Centre requires of verified threat intelligence feeds on first-tier border threats: what a feed must deliver, the threats and territory it must cover, the standard its reporting must meet to be usable in a Centre product, and the basis on which delivery will be accepted. It gives effect to item 43 of the approved Procurement Plan for 2026/27.

2. Background

The National Border Targeting Centre scores threat categories across the ports of entry, the land borderline, the maritime border law enforcement area and the aviation domain. Its standing Collection Plan places the great majority of its requirements on the fusion partners and the regulators, because most of what the Authority needs to know is either criminal-network information or trade-declaration information held by another body. That conversion from request to standing feed is not complete.

What the Centre does not hold is reporting on the far side of the border and on the networks operating across it. Its registered open-source position is a single source. For the small group of threats where consequence is severe and physical detection is weakest, being terrorist exploitation of the border, the financing that moves with it, arms and dual-use movement, and the organised networks behind all of them, the Authority is reliant on partner product it cannot task and on open media it cannot grade above fairly reliable. This procurement closes part of that gap.

3. Capability Required

3.1 What is being bought, and what is not

The requirement is verified reporting, not aggregated open source. The Authority is separately procuring open-source collection, link analysis and commercial data subscriptions under other items of the same plan, and a bid that re-presents those capabilities does not meet this requirement. What is bought here is reporting that an analyst can grade, cite and act on: material that carries a stated originating source type, a stated verification basis, and a traceable reference.

3.2 Division of responsibility

The Authority grades, scores and reaches judgements. The supplier supplies evidence. That division is not negotiable and it governs every requirement below.

Role	Position
The supplier provides	Reporting items, each with originating source type, verification basis, event date, reporting date and a persistent reference.
The Authority does	Assigns the Admiralty source grade, assigns confidence to its own judgement, scores Likelihood and Consequence, and decides what is tasked.
Neither does	A supplier risk score, band, rating or corridor assessment never enters a Centre product as a finding. It may be read as a source item and graded as one.

4. Scope

4.1 Threat coverage

First-tier is the procurement plan's term. The national threat taxonomy does not carry it, so for this procurement it is read as the five taxonomy categories the plan line names or implies. Those five are the required coverage.

Category	Why it is first-tier for the Authority
Terrorism, Sabotage and Violent Extremist Exploitation of the Border (S2)	National Intelligence Priority 9, the return of foreign terrorist fighters and terrorism-related activity. Low likelihood at most units and severe in consequence, so a low rating must still be evidenced.
Illicit Financial Flows and Trade-Based Value Transfer (X5)	National Intelligence Priority 1, transnational organised crime. Often the earliest visible signature of a commodity flow.
Small Arms, Ammunition and Explosives (C2)	National Intelligence Priority 2, the cross-border trafficking of firearms, ammunition and explosives.

Category	Why it is first-tier for the Authority
Strategic Trade Control and Dual-Use Goods (C11)	The Republic's conventional arms control and non-proliferation obligations. The category most dependent on documentary and financial intelligence rather than physical detection.
Organised Crime Networks and Facilitation Services (X2)	National Intelligence Priorities 1 and 4. Network capability and intent drive the likelihood rating of every category in the cluster the network serves.

A feed that also reaches Narcotics and Precursor Chemicals (C1), Illegal Wildlife Trafficking and CITES Derivatives (C10) or Precious Metal Groups (C6) carries additional value, but breadth does not substitute for depth on the five.

DEPARTURE RECORDED

First-tier is not a tier in the national threat taxonomy. Reading it as the five categories above is this document's own construction, made so that the requirement can be stated against categories that exist. No new tier, scale or category is created and none is proposed.

4.2 Geographic coverage

The border law enforcement area as defined in the Border Management Authority Act, 2 of 2020, and every land, sea and air port of entry. Reporting confined to South African territory is of limited use: the value of this procurement lies in the approach, the transit state and the network on the far side of the line, which the Authority cannot see for itself. Coverage of the six neighbouring states, the regional transit corridors and the source and destination markets served through South African ports is required.

4.3 Users and period

Ten named user accounts for analysts in Information and Risk Analysis, reassignable between individuals as the staff complement changes. The service is required for twelve months covering the 2026/27 financial year.

5. Requirements

5.1 Verification and sourcing

Every item must state the type of the originating source and the basis on which the supplier treats it as reliable, in enough detail for a Centre analyst to assign a grade on the Admiralty six-by-six scale without reference back to the supplier. Reliability of the source and credibility of the information are separate questions and the item must allow both to be answered.

Single-source items must be identified as such. Where an item is corroborated, the number of corroborating sources and their independence of one another must be stated, because three outlets repeating one claim is one claim. Where an item rests only on open media it must say so and must not be presented as verified.

Event date and reporting date are separate fields. Reporting recycled from an earlier cycle must carry the original event date, so that a pattern is not manufactured by the re-publication of old material.

Each item carries a persistent reference that survives for the life of the subscription and beyond, so that a judgement in a Centre product can cite it and a reviewer can return to it.

5.2 Content beyond open source

The feed must carry material that is not obtainable from open sources. The Authority will assess bids on the depth of the following: entity and network resolution, covering beneficial ownership, corporate linkage and designation linkage beyond the published lists; analysed conveyance behaviour, being the assessed interpretation of vessel, aircraft and container activity rather than the raw position feed the Authority already buys; vetted human-derived reporting on network activity, lawfully obtained; and financial typology reporting on trade-based value transfer and the settlement of illicit trade.

The supplier must warrant that all material is lawfully obtained and lawfully transferable to a South African organ of state, and must state the jurisdictions under which it was collected. Material obtained by intrusion, by circumvention of access controls or in breach of another country's law is not acceptable at any price.

5.3 Taxonomy and indicator alignment

Items must be mappable to the Authority's own taxonomy of thirty-nine categories. The supplier's internal categorisation may accompany an item but does not replace the Authority's, and the Centre will not adopt a supplier taxonomy. Where an item would sit in more than one category it is delivered once with the secondary categories noted, because an incident is scored once under its primary purpose and cross-referenced.

Where the feed carries indicators, each must be written as something observable in data or by an officer, and must name the system, dataset or observation point in which it would appear. Indicators that meet that test are written into the Centre's single indicator library; an indicator that cannot be observed anywhere is recorded as a collection gap, not as an indicator.

5.4 Delivery, cadence and machine readability

Delivery is a standing feed at a stated cadence, not a periodic report. An item that would change a deployment or a targeting decision at a port of entry or on a borderline sector must alert ahead of the cadence, within a stated period of the supplier becoming aware of it, and the period offered will be assessed.

Each item is delivered in a structured machine-readable form and as narrative. Structured delivery must be retrievable programmatically so that items enter the Centre's registers and the risk engine without being re-keyed. A portal that can only be read by a human is not sufficient, and a feed that cannot be pulled cannot be audited.

5.5 Handling, retention and source registration

Rules of use must permit, as a minimum: use of the material in Authority products at OFFICIAL and above; onward dissemination of the assessed product to the fusion partners represented in the Centre under Regulation 17; and retention of items already received in the Authority's incident and manifestation registers after the subscription ends. The third is a condition of award rather than a preference. A product whose evidence base disappears on termination cannot be defended at a later review.

Where the supplier attaches a handling caveat to an item, the caveat must travel with the item in machine-readable form so that the Authority's own access controls can enforce it. Each feed must be registrable on the Centre's source register against its existing fields, being source reference, operator, holding, grade, cadence, reader, access held and rules of use.

5.6 Analyst support

A named analyst point of contact at the supplier, able to answer a question about the basis of a specific item within a stated period. Requests for information against a Centre priority intelligence requirement, where the subscription includes them, are stated with their number and turnaround.

Induction for the ten users on the structure of the feed, its sourcing method and its limits, delivered to the Authority rather than presented to it. The Centre operates the subscription itself and does not require an embedded analyst.

6. Recorded Gaps

Two things cannot be established before the market responds, and both are recorded rather than assumed. Whether any single supplier covers all five categories to the same depth is unknown; the Authority may find that coverage of terrorist financing and of arms movement sits with different providers. And the quality of reporting on the six neighbouring states is the weakest part of the commercial market generally, so the regional depth offered is the discriminator that matters most and the one least likely to be strong.

7. Acceptance

Acceptance is measured on a working trial against live reporting, not on a demonstration of the platform. The service is accepted when the following are shown:

- ☐ Every item in a sample of at least fifty carries originating source type, verification basis, event date, reporting date and a persistent reference, and single-source items are identified.
- ☐ A Centre analyst assigns an Admiralty grade to each sampled item from the item alone, without reference back to the supplier.
- ☐ Each of the five required categories is populated with reporting on the border law enforcement area or a port of entry, with at least some of it originating beyond South African territory.

- ☐ Items are retrieved programmatically into a Centre register, with handling caveats carried through as data, and one item is traced from the feed to a graded register entry and a collection tasking.
- ☐ The retention right after termination, the onward dissemination right to the fusion partners and the lawful-obtaining warranty are confirmed in writing.
- ☐ No supplier score, band or rating is required in order to use the reporting.

Annexure A Mandatory Requirements

The following are pass or fail. A bid that does not meet every one of them is not responsive and is not evaluated further. They are the Authority's technical requirements as the user department and they stand alongside, not in place of, the statutory and procurement returnables determined by Supply Chain Management.

Each is drawn from a requirement already stated in the body of this document and is written so that it can be decided from the bid itself rather than on assertion.

Ref	Requirement	Evidence required with the bid
A1	The tier offered permits use by an organ of state in the course of its functions.	The permitting clause of the terms of service, or a letter from the data principal where the bidder is a reseller.
A2	Material may be included, with attribution, in Authority assessments disseminated to the fusion partners represented in the Centre.	Written confirmation from the bidder or the principal.
A3	Items already received may be retained in the Authority's registers after the subscription lapses.	Written confirmation. Section 5.5 states this as a condition of award.
A4	All material is lawfully obtained and lawfully transferable to a South African organ of state.	Signed warranty naming the jurisdictions under which the material is collected.
A5	Every item carries originating source type, verification basis, event date, reporting date and a persistent reference, and single-source items are identified as such.	A sample of not fewer than fifty live items, from which the Authority will grade a selection without reference back to the bidder.
A6	The sample covers at least two of the five categories at Section 4.1, one of which is Terrorism, Sabotage and Violent Extremist Exploitation of the Border (S2) or Small Arms, Ammunition and Explosives (C2), and some of it originates beyond South African territory.	The same sample. Depth across all five categories is a matter for scoring and is not required here, because no single provider is known to hold all five to the same depth.
A7	Structured items are retrievable programmatically. A service that can only be read on screen does not meet this requirement.	Interface documentation and a working retrieval against the sample.
A8	The Authority is invoiced rather than charged to a card, and automatic renewal can be switched off.	Written confirmation, with the currency and the tax treatment stated.
A9	The bidder is the data principal or is authorised by the principal to supply and support the service in the Republic.	A current letter of authority from the principal, where the bidder is not the principal.
A10	The bidder has supplied a comparable service to a government, law enforcement or regulatory client within the last three years.	One contactable reference, naming the client, the service and the period.

Two of these carry more weight than their position in the list suggests. A5 is the requirement the rest of this document rests on, because reporting that cannot be graded cannot be used, and it is the one most likely to be answered with a demonstration rather than a sample. A3 is the one most often refused once a bidder reads it carefully, and refusing it late wastes an evaluation.

Criteria for scoring the depth and regional reach of coverage, as distinct from these gates, can be supplied on request. They are not set here because weighting is a matter for the Authority and the bid committee rather than for the user department alone.
